All aboard. 3.3 km North LRT extension on track for April 2014 completion, opening

The second season of major construction on the North LRT line is starting early, thanks to mild weather

As of Monday, a two-block section of 105 Street, between 105 Avenue and 107 Avenue, will be closed until November.

"The first thing we'll do and the major first task will be 105 Street," said Brad Smid, program manager. "The construc-tion will have the train run down the median, with one lane each way."

Traffic will continue to cross 105 Street at both 106 Avenue and 107 Avenue, except for alternating month-long closures beginning in April and May, respectively.

The situation will be similar to construction in the Kingsway area last year, which was kept to one season.

Construction has been evident just east of 105 Street at 105 Avenue, where a tunnel portal and start of the Mac-Ewan station are visible.

"We're hoping for good weather," said Smid. "The construction season is short ... so the head start is really important to us.

A trip through time on the buses

History preserved.

Antique fleet stored in Cromdale garage is brought out for special events

The colours have changed over time, not to mention the style and mechanical workings.

But to the delight of Edmonton Transit System officials, 15 pieces of history have been preserved.

It's the most extensive collection of transit vehicles in the country, said Jason Baxter, market planner with ETS community relations, since most get sold to private museums.

"We're very lucky in Edmonton that there were some people that went 'Hey, this is worth remembering," Baxter said.

ETS began in 1908 with four streetcars, a fleet that has grown to nearly 1,000 vehicles that cover hundreds of routes and the LRT. Trolleys joined streetcars in 1939, but the motor bus overrode them both, once GM released its 1960 model. Trolleys continued to evolve, but were decommissioned in Edmonton in 2009. By the end of 2010, ETS's entire fleet of buses was the lowfloor style it is today.

Baxter's favourite is a 1957 GM, as it was the bus the historical tours started on, and has the original orange-and-cream colour scheme.

"The style, the colours — it has some va-va-voom in the look," he said. "People just gravitate to this bus."

That includes those who have been involved with transit for decades, and pitch in on occasion to maintain the fleet of antique buses.

"They want to do it, it's nostalgic," said Gary Weselak, garage supervisor for fleet services. "And in a lot of cases, that's what we're relving on."

Defence cuts. Harper's Arctic ship plan should be sunk, senator says

The March 29 budget is expected to see $19.8 billion set aside for the military, a seven per cent decrease compared with last year's defence spending plan, according to preliminary federal estimates.

And those forecasts do not reflect the five or 10 per cent reductions the Conservatives have asked all federal departments to deliver.

Liberal Senator Colin Kenny said if the Harper government wants to make appropriate defence cuts it should look at its pet project of Arctic Offshore Patrol Ships.

Privacy at risk with phone loss

Violation. Report finds that Ottawa residents are most likely to return lost cellphones — but will still comb through personal apps

If you've ever wondered what would happen if you lost your phone in public, a study conducted by an Ottawa-based security researcher suggests there's one thing you can almost surely count on — a complete violation of your privacy.

And the odds of getting your phone back are basically a coin toss, according to the report by Scott Wright of Security Perspectives Inc., and the security software company Symantec.

Wright "accidentally" dropped 10 cellphones throughout his hometown and four major U.S. cities as part of his experiment. Each phone was left unlocked and the "owner's" contact information was easily accessible.

Of the 50 phones he left in Los Angeles, New York, Ottawa, San Francisco and Washington D.C. — in phone booths, elevators, restaurants, transit stations and public washrooms — only 25 were picked up by someone who made an attempt to return the device.

Wright was watching remotely as 96 per cent of the "lost" smartphones were accessed, as the finders poked through apps labelled with names such as online banking, webmail, corporate email and private pix.

More phones were returned in Ottawa than anywhere else. Seven of the 10 phones dropped in the nation's capital were picked up by people who called to say they found them, compared to just three in New York.

to just three in New York.

But Wright was still disturbed by how much those phones were used before and after contact was made.

TESTIMONIAL - Enjoyable Experience "This was my 'first cleanse', and I can truly say it has been an enjoyable experience. I followed the directions, and made changes in my diet. The first few days, I began to notice some changes in my energy levels and 'waste elimination'. I also could tell the products were working, as my skin had mild breakouts. Towards the end of the program, the breakouts had cleared up, I was more regular in waste elimination, and I lost 7 pounds." - 2011-10-04

CleanseSMART Advanced Total Body Cleanse

TESTIMONIAL - Thank you so much! "My fiancée and I had always thought that we were relatively healthy at 47 years of age and had fairly decent eating habits in that we were conscious of what we put into our bodies - fresh fruit and veggies, as little processed meats, white flour, sugar, salt, etc. but over the last 6 months or so we were beginning to feel sluggish and that our age was finally catching up to us - very rapidly. We searched the internet and narrowed our search to CleanseSMART's 30 day cleanse. We are very happy to report that after only five days both of us felt an amazing change in our bodies - lighter, healthier and more energized! Thank you so very much for your expertise in formulating this cleanse." - 2008-01-16

Social media. U.S. considers laws governing digital estates after death

When Karen Williams' son died in a motorcycle crash, the U.S. woman turned to his Facebook account in hopes of learning more about him.

Williams found his password and emailed the company, asking administra-tors to maintain 22-year-old Loren Williams' account so she could look through his posts and comments by his friends. But within two hours, she said, Facebook changed the password, blocking her efforts.

Now lawmakers and attorneys in at least two

U.S. states are considering proposals that would require Facebook and other social networks to grant access to loved ones when a family member dies, essentially making the site contents part of a person's digital estate.

The issue is increasingly important as people record more online and more disputes break out over that material.

Williams ultimately got back into her son's account, but it took a lawsuit and a two-year legal battle that ended with Facebook granting her 10 months of access before her son's page was removed.

Telecom market. New improvements coming to rural wireless coverage

Canadians living in rural areas will have better cellphone reception once a federal auction of radio waves takes place, but telecom analysts say it could take years before the improved service is launched.

Ottawa has moved to level the wireless playing field by placing limits on the coming wireless spectrum auction and lifting foreign-investment limits on small telecom firms in an effort to boost competition.

Companies that are using two blocks of spectrum - radio waves over which cellphone networks travel - will have to provide wireless services to 90 per cent of their coverage areas within five years, and to 97 per cent of their coverage areas within seven years.

IMF approves second bailout

Greece. $36.56B will help stabilize finances over next four years

The International Monetary Fund on Thursday approved $36.56 billion US in funding for crisis-hit Greece over the next four years, while Standard and Poor's warned that the country's new bonds remained vulnerable to default despite this month's massive debt writedown.

The IMF's executive board granted the immediate release of $2.15 billion of these funds as part of the country's second bailout, a statement

Greece will receive a total 172.7 billion euros in rescue loans from its eurozone partners and the IMF to keep it afloat until 2016, as dizzily high borrowing rates have blocked its ability to raise money on the international bond markets.

IMF Managing Director Christine Lagarde warned that risks to Greece's austerity and reform program still "remain exceptionally high. and there is no room for slippages." She said new pain lies ahead for Greeks, despite the tough measures implemented over the past two years.

"Full and timely implementation of the planned adjustment — alongside broad-based public support and support from Greece's European partners — will be critical to success," she said in a statement

"Significant further fiscal adjustment is necessary to put debt on a sustainable downward trajectory," Lagarde said, adding that politically difficult additional spending cuts worth about 5.5 per cent of GDP — some 11 billion euros — lie ahead in 2013 and 2014

Chief IMF inspector for Greece Poul Thomsen said Athens should focus on spending cuts, improving tax administration and fighting tax evasion, rather than further hiking taxes.

He added that Greece could regain market access before 2020, although it would have to accept relatively high interest rates at first.

Without the bailout,
Greece would have been forced into a messy default of a 14.5 billion euro bond repayment due on March. 20. a move that could have sent shock waves throughout the global financial system.

Transat. Investors should have 'a little patience'

The head of Transat A.T. urged impatient shareholders at their annual meeting Thursday to have faith in the tour and travel company's plan to restore profitability as early as this year.

l myself am impatient," CEO Jean-Marc Eustache said Thursday after reporting another quarter of losses.

He said the Montrealbased company, which owns Air Transat and a host of vacation-oriented businesses. has a good strategy to restore profits. But, he added, some time will be required.

"Our past speaks for itself, and with our track record, and our market presence, a little patience is all that is required before we see a recovery, and a fully convincing one at that," Eustache said.

Transat's first quarter is a seasonally weak period that has generated profits only twice in the company's history, but the loss this year was deeper than forecast as restructuring efforts failed to stem the impact of higher fuel prices.

The company lost $29.5 million, or 77 cents per share in the three months ended Jan. 31, compared with $13.4 million loss, or 35 cents per share, a year earlier.

On an adjusted basis, after-tax losses were 79 cents per share, deeper than the per-share loss of 61 cents expected by analysts, according to Thomson Reuters. It compared to 51 cents a year ago. THE CANADIAN PRESS

RICHARD CROUSE AND MARK BRESLIN

Jeff, Who Lives at Home. Duplass Brothers product has an indie sensibility

Richard: Mark, I'm not sure how to describe this movie. It's sort of a comedy, kind of a drama and a bit of a character study and yet it isn't really any of those things. The Duplass Brothers, best known for the indie films, have mixed and matched tones and come up with something that is likeable despite the strange premise and characters.

Mark: It's not quite a comedy, but it's so likeable that it feels like one. The movie is small, and short, and has the charms of a shaggy-dog tale. What the movie really has going for it is its casting. All four leads — Jason Segel, Ed Helms, Judy Greer, and Susan Sarandon, do stellar, unglamorous work, and I can't imagine the movie without them. I thought the movie might be 80 minutes of slacker jokes, but it has something more on its mind — something at once more everyday and more cosmic.

RC: It is deeply connected to its characters and the relationships that bind them and for me that is the thing that really sells the movie. Most of the characters are edgy — except for Susan Sarandon's world-weary single mom and her free spirited co-worker played by Rae Dawn Chong — but because there's no cynicism here they become real people that you care about. Quite a feat in 85 minutes.

MB: I also liked the way that some details that seem irrelevant in the first part of the film actually play out by its finish — at first I thought these details were random time-killers, but by the end, they all add to the film's closure. But Richard, with all of the movie's modesty, fragility and scale, did you not feel that if the film's location were moved from Baton Rouge to Regina, we could have been watching a Canadian film?

RC: It exists at the intersection of indie and mainstream film, which I believe is located in Vancouver these days, nicely blending the DIY sensibility of the directors with the appeal of the A-listy cast. We specialize in making small, character-driven movies and that's exactly what this one is. What it has, that Canadian films don't is the marketing push of Paramount behind it.

MB: Yes, it seemed an odd film to open wide, but

Roots, Rock, Reggae on display

Festival. From Bob Marley to Big Star, '70s music playing again in varied SXSW documentaries

Whether reggae, soft rock, hardcore punk or power pop, the music of the '70s is playing again at South By Southwest.

Several of the many music documentaries at this year's SXSW revisit acts from the decade, a time often skipped over in pop culture history. But for that same reason, the '70s left a number of stories ripe for rediscovery or more thorough examination.

Put under the documentary lens is the beloved legend Bob Marley (Marley), the forgotten songwriting talent Paul Williams (Paul Williams Still Alive), the cult band that proved curiously resistant to the mainstream Big Star (Big Star: Nothing Can Hurt Me), the radical punk of Bad Brains (Bad Brains: Band in DC) and the curious story of rocker Rodriguez (Search for Sugar Man)

The films are among the highlights of SXSW's robust music documentaries, which essentially make up the connective tissue between the film and music components of the annual Austin festival. Many of them are grouped under their own music documentaries category, 24 Beats Per Second.

Marley, which will be released April 20, takes a linear, biographic approach that takes nearly 2 1/2 hours to tell the life story of Marley through friends and family. It might be called the "roots rock reggae" take on a subject often shrouded in iconography and myth.

"For all these years, I've seen so many things on Bob and I always felt like: 'Who are these people talking about Bob and writing about Bob?"' says Ziggy Marley, the eldest son of the Jamaican legend.

The film is a long in-theworks project authorized by the Marley family (Ziggy is an executive producer) that originally had Martin Scorsese signed up to direct.

Then Jonathan Demme, whose music documentaries include Stop Making Sense and Neil Young: Heart of Gold, came aboard and made a version. He left in 2009 after what he called "profound creative differences."

Director Kevin Macdonald has made a number of documentaries, himself, including 2003's Touching the Void, but it was his fiction film The Last King of Scotland that led him to Marley. While shooting in Uganda, he saw that Marley's popularity reached even to remote African slums.

mote African slums.

He hopes that "Marley" is the definitive documentary of the musician, and that it being "authorized" doesn't detract from its clarity.

"You can't worry about that if you're trying to be impartial, if you're trying to be honest," says Macdonald of collaborating with the Marleys.

The Hunger Games.

Star of the next bia teen franchise gets over her fear of being known only as Katniss Everdeen

The Hunger Games has changed Jennifer Lawrence's life in at least one way: she's armed now. "I mean, I still have arrows in my car," Lawrence admits. (Her character in the film, Katniss Everdeen, is a talented bow-hunter, so Lawrence has had to master archery.)

"I didn't realize that until two of my friends were getting into the back seat of my car and they were like, 'Why do you have spears back here?'

"In case I get pulled over!" Lawrence made such an impression as Ree Dolly in the critically acclaimed Winter's Bone — playing a hard-luck teen who must provide for her impoverished family — that producers of the Hunger Games immediately thought of her for Katniss, a hard-luck teen who must provide for her impoverished family. Heck, both characters even hunt squirrels.

"White trash with too much responsibility," Lawrence says, comparing the characters, a mischievous grin on her face.

"My publicist doesn't like it when I say that."

While Lawrence was a fan of the book series, she still had hesitations about taking the role — and was even close to turning it down out-

"It was so big. I love my life, and there's not a lot of times in a person's life where a yes or no decision can change your life forever and it will never, no matter what, go back to the way it was be-fore. And that was terrifying to me," she admits.

"Even from a professional standpoint, I wanted to continue to make small passion projects that I love and I still want people to be able to lose themselves in my characters. I don't want people to watch something and go, 'Oh yeah, look at what Katniss is doing. Oh, Katniss is wearing a dress.' I didn't want that, but I realized that all of the no's just had to do with me being scared.

"I didn't want to miss out on something just because I was scared."

It's no secret that many are looking to the Hunger Games as the new young adult mega-franchise, what with Twilight tying up its prolonged victory lap later this year.
And parallels have already been drawn between Lawrence and Twilight lead Kristen Stewart, an indie actress whose life was transformed by her sudden blockbuster success. But Lawrence is surprisingly immune to the hype that's been built up — even with clocks counting the days until the release on billboards around Los Angeles. "I kind of feel like an

Stars relish learning hand-to-hand combat

Training. The Hunger Games kids have a list of new skills to add to their resumes

The young Tributes of the Hunger Games engage in some elaborate combat during their tournament, which meant more than the usual training for the teenage actors portraying them. And as Jennifer Lawrence had to become proficient with a bow to play archery savant Katniss, each actor had to get to know the weapon of choice of their respective character. "I did a lot of knife-throwing and I actually learned how to throw knives, which was amazing," says Isabelle Fuhrman, who plays menacing District 2 tribute Clove.

The knife-throwing turned out to be something of a revelation for the young actress. "This is going to sound weird, but it's very beautiful, being able to say, 'Yeah, I can throw knives,'" she admits. "It was really hard for me to learn how to do it, and so I definitely want to keep up with it."

Fuhrman got a bit carried away with her new skills, according to co-star Amandla Stenberg. "We'd be like, 'Hey Isabelle, want to have a sleepover?' And she'd [be flipping around a butterfly knife] like, Oh, sure,'' says Stenberg. While prep involved handto-hand combat and sword

While prep involved hand-to-hand combat and sword training for Alexander Ludwig, who plays hulking District 1 tribute Cato, the hardest part was ditching the bulk he packed on for the role. "I'm still trying to go back to my normal size," Ludwig says. "It's way harder to lose weight than to put it on. I have so much more sympathy for fat people."

Elizabeth Banks. Talks about playing perpetually positive Effie Trinket

It's often more fun to play the bad guy, and while Effie Trinket isn't the baddest of the bad in the Hunger Games, she's certainly not helping. Unrecognizable behind thick makeup and some ridiculous hair and hats, Elizabeth Banks has a field day as Trinket, the plucky villainess prepping her young charges (Jennifer Lawrence and Josh Hutcherson) for battle.

There's more to Effie than just being a pink-haired villain. As a career woman, she doesn't have the best gig. No, District 12 is terrible. To me, Effie drank the Kool-Aid. She's on board because she's in the one per cent and she doesn't want to give that up. I think she thinks, "Revolution would be bad. People will die and I might lose my cupcakes." She's not one for change. She likes the status quo. I think she shows up in District 12 disgusted, thinks that it's dirty, wants to go home as fast as possible. I think of PR people and stylists I've worked with who go, "Well, I'll make the best of a bad situation," you know? And I think that's Effie. The main thing about Effie is she's super-selfish. It's all about her. "How does this reflect on me? How's this going to affect my life?" It's great to have a winner in the Games, but it's bad to have a winner who pisses off President Snow.

But she's also thrilled to show off the finer things in life to the kids.

I think Effie's main thing is she's ultimately a very optimistic and effervescent. theatrical person. That's why she has the job that she has, because she's spinning the job she has positively all the time. They're most likely going to die, and she's seen a lot of kids die. So in her mind it's like, "You won a lottery ticket. We're all going to die, but you're going to go out famous, with a big bang!" That's Effie's attitude about these kids. They're almost definitely going to die, she's pretty sure of it. But they just won a ticket to a great reality show.

With big stars missing, the show must go on

Music. Drake, Bublé not coming to Juno Awards, while Bieber unlikely to make it

Drake and Michael Bublé have a combined seven nominations heading into next month's Juno Awards, but neither Canadian star will be able to attend the show in Ottawa.

Drake — who hosted the show last year and is tied for the lead with four nods including album and artist of the year — has a performance scheduled in Manchester the same night as the April 1 gala, while Bublé is set to perform in Brazil.

But Melanie Berry, head of the organization that runs the Juno Awards, said the absence of those stars wouldn't hurt the show.

"I don't see it as a blow," said Berry, president of the Canadian Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences, in a telephone interview Wednesday.

Eighteen-year-old teenpop sensation Justin Bieber and while Berry says it's not a "100 per cent" certainty that the Stratford, Ont., native will skip the Junos, organizers aren't counting on his

"He's had a long year (and) I know the Kids' Choice Awards are the night before us," Berry said.

Bands galore

CMW 2012: A Preview

SOUND CHECK Alan Cross scene@metronews.c

In a basement office somewhere in Mississauga, Ont., a guy named Cameron is losing what remains of his sanity. He's the guy in charge of booking all the bands who want to play Canadian Music Week (CMW) in Toronto next week.

The last I heard — and the number has surely gone up since then — he was dealing with 922 artists from 40 countries, places as far away as Mongolia and Singapore. Somehow, all those acts have to get their sets in between next Wednesday and Sunday at five dozen venues around the city. Poor Cameron.

Many dozens of acts will be coming straight from SXSW, an only slightly more massive festival going on now in Austin, Texas. The advantage the Texans have, though, is that their climate allows them to stage many events outdoors. CMW has no such luxury.

Playing festivals like these are stressful on the bands, too. Can we afford the trip? Where do we stay? Are we booked in the right venue? How do we know people will come out and see us? How do we get the right industry people to pay attention? And what do you mean we get the 2 a.m. clean-up slot?

Yet in what's increasingly becoming a post-CD world, events like CMW grow evermore important as playing live becomes the primary way of connecting with fans and industry folk. The biggest thing fans

The biggest thing fans have to complain about is the ridiculous amount of choice in what to see and hear. Is it best to choose a venue and camp out there for the entire night? Or should you take a chance on a club crawl that might see you arrive too late to get in to see the band you want? Can we still get into the Independent Music Awards on Saturday night? And what do we do about that I Mother Earth reunion?

It'll be over soon enough, though. That'll give everyone a few months to prep for NXNE in June, which also brings hundreds of bands through Toronto. And once that's done, it's off to Sled Island in Calgary. And let's not forget about the CMJ Music Marathon in NYC in October. Sleep when you're dead, I say.

For more on Slacker Canadian Music Week and the dizzying array of events (including podcasts and a streaming radio station playing artists from the festival), go to cmw.net.

In retrospect, the bombshell with which Mad Men concluded last season was inevitable.

With a busted marriage behind him and a romance in high gear with a self-assured psychologist, Don Draper pulled a fast one in the finale, proposing to his twentysome-thing secretary just days after they first slept together. This was classic Don. He was seizing what appeared to be a quick fix, the devotion of a sexy younger woman he said "got" him, after he had spent a season lonely and lost, in a tailspin. He needed the recovery, the structure, the renewed sense of identity she seemed Below are a few tiny spoilers for fans who can't wait for the premiere on Sunday, March 25 at 9 p.m. EDT on AMC.

- Don (series star Jon Hamm) seems still happy with Megan (Jessica Pare). And why not? His bride is an ooh-lah-lah French-Canadian with style
- Pete (Vincent Kartheiser) has a new home and a baby with his wife, Trudy, but, as usual, he feels under-valued at the
- Joan (Christina Hendricks) is on leave from the agency with her new baby, as she holds on to the secret that the father isn't Greg, her military surgeon husband now in Vietnam, but instead Roge (John Slattery), the gin-soaked agency partner.
- Peggy (Elisabeth Moss) ems to have lost her creative mojo, at least with one client, Heinz that slams her ideas in a meeting.

able to provide. And (though only time will tell for sure about this) maybe Don, facing middle age, felt the need to illustrate that durable truism:

There's no fool like an old fool. "He's smiling like a fool, like he's the first man who ever married his secretary," scoffed one of his ad-agency colleagues in the finale, which was set in October 1965 and aired what seems almost that long ago (though it was actually October 2010). The two-hour premiere, which picks up during a Memorial Day weekend, reveals the Drapers' marital dynamics are spicier than Don (or the audience) might have guessed, particularly after the saucy Megan surprises him with a party for his 40th birth-day at their swanky apartment.

In the days beforehand, she voices high hopes for the cele-

Completely Justified: Producer brings western to Canadian TV

Midwest. Timothy Olyphant stars in an acclaimed western that premieres this Sunday on Showcase

Justified is one of those talked about TV shows that Canadians may have heard of but probably haven't

That's about to change. Starting Sunday at 10 p.m. ET, the contemporary western comes to the specialty channel Showcase. The series, which stars Emmy-nominated Timothy Olyphant as deputy U.S. Marshal Raylan Givens, has been critically acclaimed since it premiered in March 2010 on its originating U.S. cable network, FX. Based on characters created by bestselling novelist Elmore Leonard (Get Shorty, 3:10 to Yuma), the series is executive produced by Canadian-born showrunner Graham Yost (Speed, Boomtown).

Season 3 is currently available in Canada but on Super Channel, a premium cable service with a much smaller subscription base than Showcase. Adding to the confusion is the fact that Rogers launched FX Canada last year but wasn't able to corral Justified, distributed internationally by Sony Pictures Television.

Yost, now an American citizen who still has family in British Columbia (his father Elwy, once the face of TV Ontario, died there last year), told TV critics gathered in Pasadena in January that he knew the series had found its feet in the first season when the writers were satisfied they were creating "an Elmore Leonard world every week."

Leonard, also an executive producer on the series,

"It's a terrific show," says the 86-year-old author, who's not always happy with other film and TV adaptations of his work. He singles out The Big Bounce as an especially excruciating example.

"I don't think anybody

"I don't think anybody in the picture knew what it was about," he told critics.

Justified, on the other hand, gets it right.

"I love all of the writing, and I'm amazed sometimes that they've got the character before them. Lent these ters better than I put them on paper." Both Yost and Olyphant are happy that Leonard is still putting the character of Raylan Givens on paper. While a short story was the original inspiration, Olyphant urged Leonard to write a new novel and he did simply titled Paylan did, simply titled Raylan.

The novel breaks out into three new stories, with the Michigan-based author basically giving Yost and his Justified writing team the go-ahead to "just hang this book up and strip it for parts." THE CANDIAN PRESS

Eva Mendes has reportedly been looking for a way to prove to Ryan Gosling that she's serious about their relationship, and she may have found it.

Mendes is taking care of Gosling's dog, George, while the actor is filming in Thailand, according to Us Weekly.

"I saw Jen Oscar week, and she couldn't stop smil-

"She was actually less lean and less muscular than I had expected her to be — her body looked softer. In the dress she wore, it really did look like she had a baby bump.'

Iermaine Jones: You're fired!

Here's the thing: You can get away with a few little white lies on your resumé if you're applying to, say, a remote Applebee's in some godforsaken strip mall off the Interstate.

But when you are auditioning for one of the most powerful brands in the entire universe, a brand that has billions at their disposal to make sure nothing happens to tarnish their reputation,

"With the cooperation of law enforcement, we discovered information that left us with no choice but to eliminate one of our own from the competition. When you're doing a live show, anything can happen."

Ryan Seacrest, Americal Idol host On the firing of contestant Jermaine Jones

you should probably be upfront with anything that might come bite you on the butt later.

It seems like American Idol contestant Jermaine Jones didn't get this memo.

The top 12 finalist was disqualified from the show after the powers-that-be learned he'd kept his criminal background under wraps, having four outstanding arrest warrants in his home state of New Jersey and a history of using multiple fake names with cops.

And so executive producers Nigel Lythgoe and Ken Warwick fired him on national TV Wednesday night, Donald Trump style.

However, the drama leading up to the evening (blogs have been buzzing with the Jones news since The Smoking Gun uncovered the news) did nothing to boost the show's ratings.

In fact, it was down five per cent from last week

Is Russell Brand working through some rage issues?

New Orleans police have issued a warrant for Russell Brand in connection to an earlier incident during which Brand reportedly hurled a paparazzo's iPhone into an office window, according to TMZ.

The warrant is for simple criminal damage to property, a misdemeanor. The website previously reported that immediately following the incident Monday, reps for Brand contacted the law office involved and said Brand would pay for the damage to the window.

And while Brand has made no official comment on the incident, he did make light of it on Twitter, posting, "Since Steve Jobs died I cannot bear to see anyone use an iPhone irreverently, what I did was a tribute to his memory.'

LIQUID ASSETS

For such a wee piece of geography, Ireland certainly holds its own when it comes to the creation of classic booze. Think Bailey's Irish Cream liqueur, Jameson Irish whisky and, the true liquid personality of Ireland. Guinness Stout.

Of course, there are other Irish beverages on the shelves at your liquor store that deserve equal attention especially with tomorrow being Saint Patrick's Day.

When I was on the Emerald Isle a few years ago, I got a chance to head to Northern Ireland and visit The Old Bushmills Distillery: a producer of wonderful triple distilled whiskies since 1608 (which makes it the world's oldest licensed spirit maker).

Every drop that goes by the name Bushmills is created there and the handmade attention to detail comes across in every filled glass — one of which you get to choose at the end of the tour.

My pick was the Bush-mills 10 Year Old Single Malt Irish Whiskey ($39.95 $48.99). Made with 100

Traditionally made with both bacon and sausage to flavour a base of potatoes and onions, Dublin coddle is an insanely good one-dish meal. And it would be a great choice for St. Patrick's Day. Assuming, that is, it can be worked into a healthy Start by opting for leaner meats that still pack tons of flavour, including Canadian bacon, which actually is closer than American bacon to rashers, the variety of pork used in Irish cooking.

Canadian bacon and Irish rashers are made from the back loin of the pig rather than the fattier pork belly used for American-style bacon.

For the sausage, switch to chicken sausage, which is high in flavour, and generally has far less fat and calories than traditional sausage.

The herbs and seasonings already serve the meal well, so don't mess around with those. But add a few extra vegetable because, hey, we could all use a few extra servings of those.

And for a final punch of flavour, add apples and apple

GO SHOPPING WITH THREE NEW HOMEBUYERS

Meet Joe Stanton, a 42-year-old banking executive, and Liam and Madeleine Rushton, a 20-something couple, who want to start a family. They are both shopping for a place to live and neither have previously owned their own home.

While Stanton is a single man about town and wants a place that is easy to live in and "a solid bet for a good return on investment," the Rushtons are focusing more on finding a place that will accommodate their plans to have a family.

In any case, the first thing both buyers should do, says Chris Mooney, president of the Realtors Association of Edmonton, is to sit down with a mortgage broker or bank to see how much money they can borrow ... which is what they do. The Rushtons come back with $250,000, while Stanton gets a $400,000 limit.

Next stop: Meeting with a real estate agent to talk about options. The Rushtons could get a two- or three-bedroom townhouse in the suburbs, and they will want to check out schools and transportation in the area, too.

On the other hand, a 1,000-square-foot downtown condo might be exactly what Stanton wants. Mooney says Stanton's hefty 25 per cent down payment and big budget opens the market up considerably. "There's a lot of new condos in the downtown market," Mooney says. "It's a sound investment with the convenience of living downtown."

Charlotte Hansen, a Halifax-based realtor with Royal LePage, reminds both to factor in monthly bills for a complete financial picture of what they can afford.

She directs the Rushtons to the suburbs, too. The further out they go, the bigger the houses and yards get.

Stanton spends a lot of time at his downtown office, so a quick walking commute trumps the need for a bigger home. "If he's working a lot, he probably will be looking for something with lower maintenance," Hansen says.

He won't have to worry about shovelling snow or cutting grass and when he leaves on business trips, he just has to lock the door and walk away.

WHAT FITS YOU BEST?

You are excited to be shopping for a new place to live. But there's so much choice available. Should you buy a condo or single-family home? A resale or a new build?

Here are some tips to consider.

CONDO VERSUS SINGLE/DETACHED HOME

A condo generally means more carefree living with condo fees covering general upkeep and maintenance. "That being said, you don't necessarily have the freedoms you would in a detached home or the outdoor spaces you may wish for," says Paula Langille, realtor with Royal LePage Atlantic in Halifax.

Consider your circumstances. If you like to garden and putter in a workshop, then a home might be for you. However, if you prefer to be in the heart of the urban action, a condo might make more sense.

OLD HOME OR NEW HOME?

OK, you have decided on a home — should you look at a resale home or a new build?

"An older home has more maintenance involved. If we sell a home built in 1910, many people are scared away from a home like that because they're draftier and heating bills are higher. But people who buy those 1910 character homes tend to 'get' them. They like the museum-like quality and charm," says S.D. Grinton, associate broker for Royal LePage Benchmark in Calgary.

As for new homes, you might have some customizable choices, depending on your budget.

THINGS TO THINK ABOUT

Along with budget, consider the commute (do you like to commute since new builds are often in the suburbs and require commuting into the city) and your relationships (if you are starting a family).

"Also, consider your hobbies," says Grinton. In cities, the entertainment district is usually central. If you have a condo and you like to get away on weekends to the cottage, that factors into your decision, too.

Finally, costs are ultimately the final consideration. After getting pre-qualified for a mortgage, which helps you determine how much you can afford, also consider potential extra costs — such as condo fees for condos, serious upgrades for older homes and customizing packages and commuting costs for new builds. - Astrid Van Den Broek

AMBLESIDE A GREAT PLACE TO LIVE

COMMUNITY FEATURES IMPRESSIVE WALKWAY SYSTEM

Step out the front door of your new home into the most walkable community around.

Ambleside in Windermere opens up the possibilities of turning your community into a home.

"Ambleside has been so successful. Homeowners love all of the commercial amenities within walking distance, all the pathways and parks, and the architecture of the homes,' says Katrina Rowe, Director, Sales & Marketing, for Ambleside.

Ambleside features an impressive walkway system that will have you burning through your sneakers in no time.

But when the unpredictable Edmonton weather hits, there are a number of fitness facilities in the area, as to not disturb your work out routines

For families with children, Ambleside offers two playgrounds, ponds and a future school/park site.

There are also a number of retail amenities available nearby at The Currents, including, London Drugs, Walmart, Home Depot, Canadian Tire, all major banks, Safeway, Shell and many others.

"The nearby retail, plus all of the neighbourhood amenities make it a great place to live," says Rowe.

A new VIP Cineplex is also coming soon, along with a Montana's and Five Guys Burgers and Fries, so now you will not have to go too far for entertainment on a Friday night.

Ambleside also has safety in mind for their residents.

Currently, construction on a police station is taking place across 170 Street.

With all of these community amenities, you will never have to leave Ambleside, but if you do, it is only a short drive to Terwillegar Drive and the Henday.

"Access to the rest of the city is phenomenal with the Henday. You can go almost anywhere in 20 minutes," says Rowe.

Public transit is also available, with more routes and service planned in the future.

AMBLESIDE RELEASING

You wanted it, now you've got it. Ambleside in Windermere is happy to announce they will be releasing more lots in their amazing community.

"We're very excited to release more lots in Ambleside," says Katrina Rowe, Director, Sales & Marketing, for Ambleside.

'We receive so many emails from people who want to live here."

With the current area of Ambleside almost complete, homebuyers have been excited to see if there will be more to this exciting community.

Ambleside has recently acquired more land to give homebuyers more of what they have asked for.

Development of the newly acquired area will begin this spring, with showhomes opening their doors this fall.

"Ambleside is so popular and wellknown," says Rowe.

"We can't wait to continue with more development."

Plans for the new developments will be similar to the current Ambleside, since it has been received by the public so well.

HOMEOWNERS LOVE THE ARCHITECTURE

With a community as unique as you are, the architecture in Ambleside is sure not to disappoint homebuyers.

"Ambleside has very unique architectural designs," says Katrina Rowe, Director, Sales & Marketing, for Ambleside.

"Homeowners love the architecture of the homes."

Operating with strict requirements, Ambleside works on the look of the whole home, not just the front façade, like many other communities.

"We've found that residents really appreciate the extra care and attention placed on the exterior of their homes,"

"It makes the neighbourhood look fantastic as you drive through."

There are a number of choices for types of homes in Ambleside, whether you are looking for a single-family home, semi-detached home, or town house, they have got it.

They even offer apartment/condo buildings, high-rise buildings and mixeduse buildings.

There is a home for everyone in this community, designed to meet your needs and reflect your unique style.

A number of homebuilders work within Ambleside to bring homebuyers the best home-buying experience possible.

Showhomes by these builders are scattered throughout the community, so be sure to check out these homes in person to find the right fit for you.

Ambleside not only offers homebuyers a great selections of homes, but a lifestyle. It is a neighbourhood filled with pathways, parks and shops as well.

Exciting new additions to Ambleside are being made regularly, so now is the time to make Ambleside a part of a your new life as a homeowner.

YOUR HOME SHOULD FIT YOUR LIFE

SABAL HOMES LOOKS AT EACH ELEMENT WHEN DESIGNING A HOME.

Flexible living for a flexible lifestyle. Sabal Homes believes that your home should be designed to fit your life, and not the other way around.

"When designing a home we look at each element," says Richard Drader, senior manager of sales and marketing for Sabal Homes.

"It's about solving problems to make the home comfortable and one that works for your lifestyle."

The Reflex by Sabal Homes, is designed for those customers who do not fit the 'cookie-cutter' type home.

"Like all Sabal designs, the Reflex creates the perfect blend of functionality and style catering to the lifestyle of the home owner," says Cody Price, marketing coordinator for Sabal Homes.

This two-storey, three-bedroom home features two and a half bathrooms and nine-foot ceilings.

The ability for the home to function appropriately is important to Sabal Homes, so customers have the choice to make this home work for them, by choosing options such as, moving the laundry room or enhancing the ensuite.

At 1,879 sq. ft., customers even have the option of adding a fourth bedroom to this versatile home.

With tonnes of options, this truly is a mix and match home that will fit all your living needs.

See the Reflex in person in Secord.

"The interior design of our showhomes gives buyers the ability to imagine how their lifestyle can fit in to our homes perfectly," says Price.

"We're a home builder that is out to build relationships and solve problems for the new generation of families."

The Reflex is also available in the northeast community of McConachie and the northwest community of Trumpeter.

Sabal Homes opened their doors in Edmonton in 2007 and has a rich history of innovation and modern architectural design.

Through home design, innovation and a memorable home building experience, Sabal Homes is well on their way to being recognized as a leader in the home building industry.

SABAL HOMES AMONG AWARD FINALISTS

The finalists in the 2012 Awards of Excellence in Housing have been announced and Sabal Homes is proud to have three homes in the running this year.

The awards honour not only quality and craftsmanship, but also the relationships built with the customers.

"We've had many repeat customers in the past five years," says Richard Drader, senior manager of sales and marketing for Sabal Homes.

"That in itself is very gratifying and speaks volumes."

Sabal Homes is proud to be acknowledged by the industry for being one of the leaders for building unique and stylish homes.

THE FINALISTS INCLUDE:

(prices do not include lot price or GST);

The Xeno – Best Single Family Under $230,000

The Vanos – Best Single Family between $230,000 - $300,000

MAKE YOUR FRIENDS JEALOUS WITH THE XENO

STYLISH HOME PERFECT FOR YOUNG, AFFLUENT PERSON OR COUPLE

Cross off "own first home" from your leap list this year.

Sabal Homes has the perfect big home in a small home's body for you.

"Owning your first home can give a person confidence and pride," says Cody Price, marketing co-ordinator with Sabal Homes.

"To do it with such a stylish and livable home can not only give you confidence and pride, but it can also make your friends jealous."

And no better way to make your friends jealous than with the Xeno in Second.

"The Xeno is the perfect home for the young affluent person or couple looking to move away from the condo lifestyle and in to their very own home," says Price.

This two-storey, three-bedroom, two and a half bathroom home is an open concept home, to maximize livability.

"It really speaks to the idea that you do not need a lot of square footage to feel comfortable and live functionally," says Price.

This 1280 sq. ft. home also features a large kitchen that overlooks your stylish front porch, perfect for entertaining all your guests.

"The open concept of the homes brings tons of natural light in and gives you the feeling of living in a spacious home without having to foot the bill for massive amounts of square feet," says Price.

"From a buyers perspective, what drew me to Sabal Homes was the fact that their floor plans are functional, open and flow effortlessly."

The Xeno has also been named a finalist in the 2012 Awards of Excellence in the "Best Single Family under $230,000" category (not including lot price or GST).

Sabal Homes have been building homes and futures in Edmonton since 2007.

As a home builder, they set out to build relationships with their customers and help them build a home.

The Xeno is also available in the northeast community of McConachie.

HOME OWNERSHIP IS EASIER THAN YOU THINK!

Lincolnberg Communities Kiss Your Landlord Goodbye Campaign is making home ownership easy. With monthly payments cheaper than most monthly rents, it is no surprise that people are doing more than just talking about the incredible value of owning a home, they are buying them.

This campaign is running in five of Edmonton's most sought after communities: Laurel, Lewis Estates, Walker Lakes Station, Terwillegar, and Windermere North.

The Terwillegar Close community is one of the most prestigious neighborhoods in south Edmonton. Located in South Terwillegar it is just minutes away from shopping, restaurants, and the brand new Terwillegar Rec Centre that features indoor soccer, hockey rinks, swimming pool, and a fitness centre.

The Terwillegar project features your choice of a double attached and single attached garage, and homes with stone detailing and sophisticated architectural features; showing character often lacking in other communities. Included in all Terwillegar Close Models are 2 or 3 bedrooms, 2.5 baths, 5 appliances, gas fireplace, rear deck(TREX composite), front and side yard landscaping, professional decorator services, high efficiency furnace, power vented hot water tank, maintenance free exterior, and no condo or hidden fees.

Offering six models, you have a diverse choice of many spacious floor plans that best fit your needs. The all-inclusive, easy to own ownership package in five great communities, and Kiss Your Landlord Goodbye promotion definitely make home ownership easier than you think!

Of course, buying a house costs more than the sticker price you see on the MLS listing.

When new homebuyers Joe Stanton, a 42-year-old banking executive, and Liam and Madeleine Rushton, a 20something couple, started shopping for houses, we spoke to two mortgage advisers to get financial advice.

Before anything, Laurie Foster, an independent mortgage broker with Verico in Winnipeg, says "we need to look at their current financial picture — do we need to restructure other debt?"

All three have been renting and the monthly mortgage payments will be about the same amount. But, Foster says, they now will have to pay for utilities, property tax, Internet and cable.

Foster also recommends setting aside about two per cent of the purchase price to cover lawyer fees, deed transfer tax and other closing costs. Some brokers recommend as much as four per cent.

The Rushtons will likely go with a fixed-rate mortgage (which means the interest rate they are paying is locked in for a fixed period, usually from one to five years) so monthly payments are easy to budget.

Stanton has deeper pockets and will likely go for a variable mortgage rate (which means the monthly interest rate varies depending on what's going on in the market). If interest rates stay low, he could save a bit of money. If the rates rise, he can take a hit.

Both buyers should have a contingency fund that will cover three months of payments in case of layoffs.

Because the Rushtons are paying less than a 20 per cent down payment, says Jamie Small, an adviser with Ottawa Mortgage, they will have to factor in mortgage default insurance, which adds one to three per cent to the total cost.

"We also consider what stage borrowers are in their career. Is their income going to be increasing or is it fixed?" Small says.

Chris Mooney recommends both take a 25-year mortgage. Stanton can pay lump sums on the mortgage anniversary or double monthly payments with his bank bonuses to take a deeper cut out of the balance while maintaining cash fluidity. In the end, the Rushtons get a purchase-plus-improvements mortgage so they can get a new roof and thick insulation, tacking the $10,000 bill onto the mortgage. And they call in friends and family for the move.

Stanton, valuing time over money, shells out $2,000 for movers.

Crosby fits right in as Penguins win in Big Apple

NHL. Penguins star notches assist in return, playing on third line

Sidney Crosby was on the ice for three of Pittsburgh's five goals, and defenceman Kris Letang was out there for all of

The Penguins are suddenly the picture of health, and the NHL's hottest team is making the Eastern Conference playoff race a fight to the finish.

Crosby returned from a 40game absence caused by concussion symptoms, and Letang rejoined the lineup after missing the past five because of the same ailment. That gave the Penguins their most complete lineup in months, and Pittsburgh responded with a thorough 5-2 victory over the East-leading New York Rangers on Thursday night.

The Penguins have won 10 straight, including two wins over the Rangers in that spurt, and now trail New York by four points. Pittsburgh has 13 games left, compared to 12 for the Rangers.

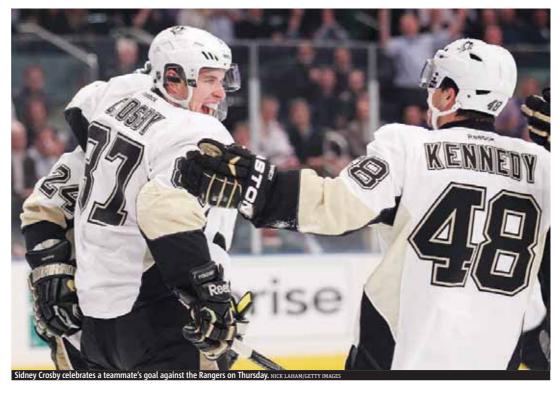

Crosby was hoping he wouldn't mess up any chemistry created by his teammates while he was out.

"I didn't want to be that guy," the 24-year-old centre "I obviously knew we were playing really well. There was a little bit of adjustment, playing wing, things like that. I thought everyone played great, and I'm happy we got the win."

Crosby played for the first time since he was forced to the sidelines on Dec. 5. He got on the score sheet with an assist, but his presence couldn't be analyzed by numbers.

"I think he played a great game," said Matt Cooke, who scored two goals while playing on a new third line with Crosby. "He draws so much attention when he is on the

The Penguins were 60-32-9 in the 101 games Sidney Crosby has missed the past two seasons.

ice. People are worried about how good he is. That makes the players on the ice with him that much better.'

It showed throughout as the Penguins became the first team this season to score five goals against the Rangers.

Crosby joined Cooke and Tyler Kennedy on a line. Kennedy had two assists and NHL points leader Evgeni Malkin

Under control

"I was pretty excited last time. I was excited this time too, but I didn't want to get caught doing too much."

Sidney Crosby on his second return from injury this season added a goal for the Penguins, who haven't lost since Feb. 19 at Buffalo. Pittsburgh's winning streak started two days later with a 2-0 home victory against the Rangers.

"That was the only way we could catch them, by beating them because they were winning a lot," said Marc-Andre Fleury, who made 29 saves in his 38th win of the season, and ninth in the streak. "They are tough to reach. Tonight was a big game for us."

Crosby assisted on Chris Kunitz's goal that made it 4-2 at 3:01 of the third period, shortly after the Rangers had killed a four-minute, high-sticking penalty on Stu Bickel. Crosby high-sticking swung behind the New York net and found Kunitz in the left circle for a shot that beat Martin Biron.

Pascal Dupuis pushed the Penguins' lead to 5-2 at 7:35. Crosby didn't figure in the scoring on that one, as Dupuis put in a rebound of defenceman Paul Martin's shot, but he was on the ice for it. Cooke gave the Penguins a 1-0 lead 2:54 in, and Malkin and Cooke connected 1:22 apart in the second period to stretch the advantage to 3-1.

Carl Hagelin got the Rangers even at 1-1 in the first period, and Marian Gaborik brought New York within 3-2 late in the second with his 35th goal. Brad Richards had two assists, and Gaborik and Hagelin both had one for the potent line that has scored the team's last seven goals over three games.
